

2017 AHCA Impact Dams & Sires

The AHCA Impact Dam & Sire Program was instituted in 2007 to recognize productive Highland cows. Since its inception, hundreds of Highland cows have received the award. As a potential buyer or breeder you can look with confidence that an Impact Dam has produced; see the standards below. Every breeder can participate in this program simply by sending in their calving and weaning data (this can be done online). It is not mandatory to submit birth or weaning weights to be eligible for this program. However, we highly encourage submitting weights so you can generate reports on individual cow performance. To be eligible for Elite Impact Dam status, you must submit birth and weaning weights.

Each year animals that attain Impact status will be added to the list. The report is produced in February and published in the spring issue of The Bagpipe. In order for your data (calving and weaning worksheets or registrations) to be considered in next year's report, you must have it to AHCA by January 1, 2018.

Congratulations to all the owners of Impact Dams and Sires!

Impact Dams

Impact Dams are cows that have proven their productivity over time. In order to become an Impact Dam a cow must calve for the first time by the age of 3 years 4 months (1220 days), she must have had at least 4 calves and the calving interval must be 380 days or less. This recognition will stay with cows, as an asterisk (*) will be added to their registration number.

Elite Impact Dams

Elite Impact Dams are cows that meet the criteria of an Impact Dam, plus have had at least 3 calves whose weaning weight (205 day weight) ratio is 100 or greater. These cows have proven not only to be productive but have also shown great maternal strength with above average weaning weights. They will be recognized with 2 asterisks () after their registration number.

Impact Sires

Impact Sires are bulls that have sired 4 or more Impact Dams. These bulls will be noted with a plus (+) after their registration number.
